Tomahawk Couple Honored on 50th Wedding Anniversary

Frank and Grace Hallett, pioneers of the Tomahawk district, were honored Saturday, December 30th on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary. They were feted in the early evening at a supper for the immediate family and close friends and later the Tomahawk Hall was the scene of an open house attended by many people from the area who have known and admired the couple during their long residence in the community.

Mr. and Mrs. Hallett were both born in Ontario and moved to Tomahawk in 1906. They were married in McDougall Methodist Church in Edmonton in 1918.

Both have vivid memories of the struggle to build their homestead in the young years of the century and are very interesting story-tellers of the early era. Mr. Hallett prepared a history of the Tomahawk region that was used as a part of the program during the reunion of Tomahawk old-timers in May of 1966.

Mr. and Mrs. Hallett have eight children, four boys and four girls, all of whom were present for the anniversary celebration. Their children are: Anita, Vancouver; Winnifred, Tomahawk; Thomas, Round Valley; Ray, Tomahawk; Argus, Calgary; Noel, Estavan, Saskatchewan; Frankie, B.C.; and Grace of Edmonton.

Supper was served in the Tomahawk Hall by the ladies of the Tomahawk Community Club. Master of ceremonies for the occasion was Floyd Haynes of Edmonton.

Rebs Close Gap With Weekend Victories

The Drayton Valley Rebels looked rebellious last week as they blasted the Stettler Imperials with 4-2 and 7-2 defeats on Saturday and Sunday at the Centennial Civic Centre. The two victories put the local team right in the thick of contention in the North Central Alberta Intermediate Hockey League.

The Rebs are still in last place in the five team league, three points behind the Camrose Maroons who upset the Wetaskiwin Colonels over the weekend, however, only seven points separate the trailing Rebels and the league leading Colonels.

In Saturday's game the Rebels took the lead after 32 seconds of play and never looked back. They led 3-0 at the end of the first period, 4-1 after two sessions and the visitors collected a single in the final frame.

For Drayton Valley Ron Hemmingway led the scoring with two goals, Doug Hall got a single and Barry Ness closed out the scoring. Doug Blaney and Ron Koberneski scored for the Imperials.

There were eleven penalties, five to the visitors and six to the host team. The Rebels outshot and outplayed the Imperials by a clear margin throughout most of the game.

Sunday's game was a carbon copy of the previous night's contest for two periods with the Rebels pulling away with three quick goals late in the third period. The Rebels led 2-0 after one session of play and were ahead 4-1 at the end of the second.

The Imperials threatened momentarily early in the when the scoreboard read 4-2, however, three goals by the Rebs in the last eight minutes of play crushed any Stettler hopes of a comeback.

Once again Hemmingway led the scoring parade with two markers, the singles went to Doug Hall, Garry Haack, Garry Pankewicz, Barry Solnes and Frank Novosel. Bob Rawluck and Doug Blaney were the Imperial marksmen.

There were nine penalties handed out in the game, seven going to the Rebels. The Rebs outshot the Imperials 36-33 on the afternoon's play.

The Rebels now head out for two road games, Tuesday night in Wetaskiwin and Saturday evening in Camrose. The next Rebel home game will be Tuesday, January 16th when they entertain the Camrose Maroons in another key game of the current N.A.I.H.L. race.

Summary School Board Meeting

Regular monthly meeting of the Stony Plain School Division Board was held on Tuesday December 19th at the Divisional Office in Stony Plain.

A letter was received from the Village of Entwistle advising that if the proposed Regional High School was built on the Jevne property they would make water and sewage facilities available at no cost.

This letter was ordered filed for future reference.

Mr. F. Hannochko reported on probable costs of the proposed installations of intercom systems in the schools. If good reliable systems are installed the approximate cost would be in the neighborhood of $24,-000.

It was moved and carried that an interim payment of $12,000 be made in December, 1967 on intercom installations in the schools and the balance be paid out of the 1968 budget.

Mr. Henry Toews and Mr. F Hannochko were delegated to bring in a recommended salary scale at the next meeting for all caretakers in the Division

It was moved and carried that the sum of $29,000 be transferred to the Capital Account for equipment to be purchased for the Stony Plain Commercial Wing.

The secretary informed the Board that application was made for permission to sell the Holborn school and advice was received that the school would have to be inspected before the application is considered.

The Board was advised that an Administration Seminar, sponsored by the A.S.T.A., is to be held in Edmonton March 20-22, 1968. Several trustees, the superintendent and secretary-treasurer expressed interest in this seminar and were granted permission to attend.

It was mentioned that perhaps a meeting or meetings should be held in the west end of the Division to discuss the feasibility of developing a Regional High School in the Evansburg-Entwistle area. This matter was tabled pending notification from the Edson School Division regarding their course of action.

Mr. Henry Toews reported that last week all three principals from Drayton Valley attended a Guidance Clinic meeting at Edson with officials of the Edson Health Unit.

He also mentioned that W. Irl Miller and John Hrasko attended a science seminar for a half day in Edmonton.

It was moved and carried that Mr. Henry Toews be authorized to visit the Calgary University early in February, with out-of-pocket expenses paid, with a view to engaging teachers for the coming year.

A telephone call was received from the Edson School Division advising that the Edson Divisional Board is prepared to make application to the Minister of Education for the organization of a joint Regional High School in the Entwistle, Evansburg area, the site to be determined by an Arbitration Board.

It was moved and carried that a meeting with interested electors of the areas served by the Entwistle, Seba Beach and Tomahawk Centralizations be held in the Seba Beach School Auditorium to discuss the feasibility of the proposal for improving high school services by developing a Regional High School.

Special Breed Settled the West

It took a very special breed of people to settle permanently in the west. Life was hard and lonely. The winters were long, and the nearest neighbors would be miles away. Though he did not have to clear his land of forest before he could plant a crop, the western farmer still faced the hazards of drought, locusts, rusts and frost which could prevent him from reaping his crop.

There was very little timber available to the early pioneers on the prairies and they had to make the best of what they could find. Some homes were wooden shacks made of small poplar logs, as shown in the lower right of the drawing. The spaces between the logs were filled with clay or a mixture of mud and straw, both inside and out. Sometimes the original homes were sod cabins and even caves dug into hillsides, with clay floors and white-washed walls. Some British families built dwellings of steeply slanted poles, thatched with coarse long grass from the sloughs. Most of the furniture was home-made. Early beds were made of small boughs. Later came straw-filled mattresses and eventually, as farming developed, the luxury of feather ticks.

The coming of the railway and promotion by Clifford Sifton, Minister of the Interior, greatly increased the flow of settlers. Small towns mushroomed, providing a store, a grain elevator, perhaps a cabinet maker, carpenter, blacksmith and weaver. When sawn lumber became available, it made possible the type of barn at the upper left, a combination of logs and frame construction. Many European settlers spoke no English. Samples of the picturesque homes they built are shown at upper right and lower left.

Editors Notebook

What is News?

Critics of the press often ask why editors seem to sensationalize the news. They wish to know why newspapers appear to accentuate the negative rather than the positive aspects of global, national and local events.

There are no simple answers. But the main problem is that the public--the average newspaper reader, that is--has a very real news sense.

People buy newspapers not just to learn how much steel was produced in Canada during the past six minths, or how well the Prairie farmers are faring--but to find out just where the action is.

It is a fallacy to pretend that editors seek out what critics would call "bad" news. Unfortunately, so-called "good" news rarely appeals to the readers who invariably buy many more newspapers whenever events of major importance occur.

The basis of the large black headlines that tend to stress bad or negative news is to a great extent economic. In a free society, a newspaper--particularly the important city newspapers of Canada--must sell their product daily in order to survive.

The editor who consistently buries on the back page news about the war in Vietnam, a bloody military rising in a new African country, the Negro revolt in the United States, or the challenge of Quebec to the rest of Canada soon would find himself without a job. He may believe earnestly that it is his duty to accentuate only "good" news--about rising educational levels in Canada, greater food output, taller buildings and better roads.

His publisher, or the owner of the newspaper, however, demands that the product is acceptable to the buyer. And the idealistic editor finds also that his competitors do not share his unusual views.

The only press that can afford the luxury of ignoring bad news is the controlled press. Communist and military dictators can order their editors what to print on the front pages on national newspapers.

Until mankind reaches a stage of social enlightenment where each individual considers the fact that "bad news should be happening at all a personal failure on his part, editors will headline negative events. Only when the reader himself demands that papers print more good news, will change occur.

Alberta Produces Third of Registered Canadian Beef Cattle

Alberta holds a very enviable position in Canada's purebred livestock industry, according to information obtained from the Canadian National Livestock Records and the Holstein-Fresian Association.

Referring to this information, J.L. Kerns, livestock specialist with the provincial Department of Agriculture, reports that Alberta was responsible for about one-third of all the beef cattle registered in Canada in 1966 and stood first in the number of Hereford and Angus registrations. She submitted 20,412 of the 56,154 Hereford registrations, 7,262 of the 17,534 Angus registrations, and 1,994 of the 9,496 Shorthorn registrations.

These figures, says Mr. Kerns, show the important part Alberta's purebred beef cattle industry is playing in the overall economy of the province. The 205 Hereford and Angus cattle that were shipped to Russia in 1966 is one example of the income derived from our beef cattle exports.

According to the Holstein-Fresian Association, Albertans submitted 1,789 of the 90,000 national registrations for Holstein cattle in 1966. This province also registered 360 Ayshires, 275 Jerseys and 184 Guernseys. Although Alberta stands only about 5th in total number of dairy cattle registrations, her dairy animals are well received in outside markets.

Alberta was second only to Ontario in the number of swine registered in 1966. She was responsible for 4,357 of the 21,000 national registrations, with the Yorkshire breed accounting for 3,200 of the provincial total. Lacombes, Landrace and Tamworths made up the balance.

Alberta also stands second in percentage of national sheep registrations. Of the 8,388 animals registered in Canada in 1966, 1,537 came from Alberta. Ontario led with a total of 3,642 head.

Mr. Kerns reports that Alberta is one of the leading provinces in the Canadian light horse industry. Accounting for 556 of the 2,347 national registrations in 1966, she was beaten only by Ontario.

Approximately one-half of the Abrabian and Quarter horses registrations came from here In other words, 102 of the 228 Arabians and 86 of the 196 Quarter Horse registrations were submitted by Alberta breeders. Alberta and Saskatchewan tied for first place in the number of Appaloussas registered, with Alberta accounting for about 100 of the 328 national registrations.

In the Thoroughbred horse category, Alberta stands second again to Ontario with 270 of the 962 national registrations. Alberta was also second in the number of American Saddle Horses, Hackneys, and Palominos registered in 1966 and fourth for Canadian Hunters and children's ponies.

Only 399 heavy horses were registered in the whole of Canada during 1966. Of the 145 national Percheron registrations, Ontario accounted for 54, Quebec for 49 and Alberta for 23. Ontario submitted 52 and Quebec 15 of the 80 national Clydesdale registrations and 57 and 101, respectively, of the 174 national Belgian registrations. Alberta had no Clydes or Belgians registered in 1966.

Here we go, having embarked on a second century of Confederation. Here is hoping that everyone who's Centennial projects didn't get finished last year will get them done this year and here is also wishing the very best to everyone who prints and reads this column.

Many visitors came and went in our village during the holiday season; much too many for me to keep track of. We were very surprised and pleased to have my folks, Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Clark come from Hixon, B.C. to spend Christmas Day with us. This visit was doubly appreciated by us as this was the first Christmas Day I have spent with my folks since our marriage fifteen years ago.

The 4-H Club boys and girls enjoyed themselves at a Christmas party held in the Curling Rink. The members, leaders and a few parents who were there enjoyed games, dancing and a fine lunch.

The Volunteer Fire Department members held a stag party in the fire hall meeting room. This seemed to have been quite a success. (wasn't there)

The Junior-Senior school pupils entertained themselves and staff members at a Christmas banquet held in the high school auditorium. A very delicious turkey supper was served in the beautifully decorated auditorium and Santa came to distribute gifts after a program of skits and songs had been presented by various students.

Mr. and Mrs. Pugh entertained a few friends on New Year's Eve. A very lovely time was had by all.

Several other New Years Eve activities took place in the district but since I was admitted to hospital New Years Day I have not heard about them.

Last year I wrote this news column in a store waiting room, in the bus depot and in a hospital while visiting our son as well as at home, of course. This year, my first news is being written in the hospital while I am a patient.

Latest accident in our home has been Grant being scalded by hot coffee. He is fully recovered now and so to all a Happy New Year.

Curtains or draperies should be hung so that their edges and folds harmonize with those of the window and the main features of the room.

THE SIZE HAS CHANGED

The Pattern Fashion Industry is taking steps to make pattern sizing more closely correspond to standard ready-to-wear sizes. This means that persons with a 34" bustline who have been buying a size 14 will now buy a size 12. (They're just trying to make you think you are smaller).

Charts showing the new measurements and sizes will be in the pattern catalogue starting with the January, 1968 dated catalog. These charts and patterns issued on and after this date will be marked New Sizing.

Since patterns with the New Sizing, and patterns with former sizing will run concurrently for some time, the two measurement charts will be shown in the back of the catalogs, and the New Sizing chart will be repeated throughout the catalogs. New sizing will be in a Red chart and former sizing will be a Blue chart.

All major companies (Butterick, McCall's, Simplicity, Vogue) are adopting the new standard body measurements.

Sizing for Toddler's, children's and girls' patterns have only minor changes. These do not affect the pattern size, but it is a good idea to check the measurements on the back of the pattern envelope. Men's and boys' sizes remain the same.

To keep peanut butter on bread from sticking to the roof of your mouth turn the bread upside down.

BURTONSVILLE NEWS

MRS. A. HOMME,
Correspondent.

The snow storm of December 27th and since has left a depth of about 10" of new snow. The wind on Sunday made visibility nil for about three hours and roads were very heavy. Temperatures dropped to as low as 36 and it was 40 below at the post office.

Now with New Year holidays over and a full year ahead we can begin to look for warmer days that are already beginning to lengthen.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bailey went to Wainwright on Saturday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Bailey's father, Mr. McFarland. We all extend our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Bailey and family in their hour of sorrow. Marie MacDougall of Keephills cared for the two little children while the older ones carried on chores at home in their parents absence.

Our Burtonsville Post Office is a thing of the past since January 2nd was the first trip for our mail carrier, Hank Kiser, going west on Rural Route 1, Duffield. We are sorry to see our post office closed and we appreciate the patience of our post mistress, Mrs. Doris MacDougall in the years she has carried on. Thank you Mrs. MacDougall.

Alvin Whitney and family of Edmonton spent New Years Day with Alvin's nephew Eldon and Marge Greanya.

Mr. and Mrs. Axel Homme visited Cecil and June Homme and family on New Years Day.

Mrs. Mary Tattersall and David have been ill with the flu. Theresa spent the holidays at home and was there to carry on the household chores.

Zoltan and Norma Petriko and boys of Edmonton spent new years with Norma's brother Lewis Homme and family of Stony Plain.

Health Hints from THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

ARTHRITIS CAN BE CONTROLLED

Arthritis, by definition, means inflammation of the joint or joints. There are many kinds of arthritis, some of which tend to produce disability, and some which do not.

Very seldom does arthritis produce any degree of permanent disability. Statistics show that even in these instances where arthritis advances to the stage where it is threatening to cripple, adequate medical care will prevent crippling in five out of six cases.

When a patient appears in a doctor's office complaining of pain in a joint, the doctor will attempt to determine what kind of arthritis is causing the pain, and how far it has advanced.

For some kinds of arthritis--gout is one--there is specific treatment that will cure, leaving no disability. In others there may be a threat of disability, but proper management will prevent crippling in over 80% of cases.

The C.M.A. says, the vast majority of cases do not fall into either of these two groups. In most cases the doctor will know that the attacks of arthritis will be short-lived, will not recur, and will leave no disability. It is sometimes hard to be sure which ones will leave no disability. It is sometimes hard to be sure which ones will progress, recur and ultimately threaten to disable, but his efforts can help prevent the disease from progressing.
